

LEGO my Rebo

Looks like Sid has gotten into our LEGO stash and mixed up the minifigures. Diabolical. How will we possibly decode the subspace message we intercepted?

First things first, better match up characters from the same film, one for the head and one for the body. Next, order them episodically. You don't need to be fluent in six million forms of communication to take the final step, just use the numbers to reveal the information we're looking for.

May the Force be with you!
